Suicide.

When Jim Queen, the well-known hack driver returned home last night from the band concert at the Hotel, he was unpleasantly surprised to find that one of his best horses, which he had left tied to a tree, had committed suicide by hanging himself. Whether the horse felt despondent at being left at home when the National band was playing or whether he tried to follow the example of our local P. G. politicians, in attempting to solve the Hawaiian situation, will remain an unsolved mystery. No reason for the desperate act can be advanced except that the rope was too short. Jim Quinn bemoans his loss so much more was this was the third horse which he has lost within the last two months, and he knows how difficult "restoration" is.

Kate Field's Christmas Tyrant

"I have decided that Christmas offers the greatest possible opportunities to the domestic tyrant. The man whose wife has free access to his bank account, whose sons are sent to college with enough money to enable them to keep up with the procession, whose daughters have generous allowances and are allowed to treat with their dressmaker on a self-respecting basis, can do comparatively little for his family at holiday time. It is the sort of person—and there are many such—who holds the purse for the entire household that can dispense absolute bliss at Christmas. He can give his wife and children all the things which they have really needed for the last six months in order to keep up appearances, and get in return a disproportionate quantity of gratitude. His wife will survey her new silk gown with reverential awe, the daughters will be hysterical with delight over the furs, which warmth really demands, and the college boy will say a heartier 'thank you, Sir,' for the twenty dollar cheque than his classmate gives an equally well-to-do parent for one of five times the amount."

LOCAL NEWS.

The tram-cars are making better time now a-days.

Mr. C. W. Ashford hopes to be enabled to return to Honolulu by the China.

The reports from the Volcano of Kilauea indicate continued activity in the crater.

Mr. R. Fenwick is now the purser of the steamer Monowai vice Mr. Keith resigned.

The Smith bus route to Wai-kiki and Sans Souci is quite an accommodation and is obtaining increased patronage.

The Monowai brought as saloon passengers for this port Mr. and Mrs. Souland La Monte. They will visit the Volcano.

Mr. E. B. Thomas the contractor, has workmen engaged in renovating the interior of the Notre Dame du Paix Cathedral.

The names of Messrs. Thomas King, W. C. Peacock and O. Scholz have been added to the list of those taking passage by the "Monowai" for San Francisco.

The HOLOMUA acknowledges receipt of a very useful record memorandum, from the hands of Mr. Sam B. Rose the obliging and popular agent of the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York.

The hunting party to the wilds of Koolau and elsewhere, consisting of Judge Whiting, Hon. Cecil Brown and ex-Marshall C. B. Wilson returned to town last evening. They report good sport.

Capt. Smith of the Mauna Ala feels proud at the compliment paid his vessel by Captain Lyle of the Marine Railway, who says that the lines of the vessel are excellently brought out, and indicate speed.

Mrs. Vina King the colored woman charged with an attempt to knock out a colored boxer named (after the immortal Geo.) Washington, was remanded to-day, by Judge Robertson of the District Court, for trial at the next term of the Supreme Court. Mr. J. L. Kaulukou appeared for the defendant.

The barkentines Planter, Wilder and Amelia started from port here, within a few hours of each other yesterday afternoon, all bound for the Golden Gate. There is a strong intent on the part of each captain to bring his particular vessel over to port first and there are many different opinions, locally, which one will be first. The Planter has an advocate in the HOLOMUA.

The general public is recommended to make a call, tomorrow, at the Yokohama bazaar, Robinson block Hotel street and there inspect a most useful, handy, article in compact form, the invention of Mr. Frank Walcott. The article is in the shape of a sportsman's pocket knife and contains 6 distinct useful articles not the least of which is a glass-cutter, a cross cut saw, and a weighing machine. Call and examine the invention.

The Hawaiian Hardware Co. has presented to the HOLOMUA an article which should find place in every well-regulated household, and that is, one of Walcott's Emery files, of French manufacture. On this handy file one can easily and quickly sharpen knives, scissors, shears, pen-knives and finer instruments. Besides its sharpening qualities the file may be used to test gold and thus detect counterfeit money. The article will be on sale, but for a short time only.

Parson Davies says that Peter Jackson will prepare for a fight with Corbett about next April as they think there will be some place in which to have it out.

DEAD.

An Old, Respected, Citizen Passes away.

It was not an unexpected event which happened yesterday afternoon, when the death of Mr. Frank S. Pratt, a well known citizen was announced, yet, for all the weeks of preparation which the loving family and friends had had in which to steel their feelings against the inevitable victory of the fell destroyer, there were no dry eyes around the bedside of the departed when the result was evident. Death came slowly and with attendant pain but the end was reached with fortitude, the final summons being answered at a few minutes past 4 o'clock and in presence of the family.

The deceased, Franklin Seaver Pratt was born in Boston, Mass. November 3, 1829, and was therefore 64 years and 2 months of age at his death. He came hither in 1850, and was married to the daughter of a high chief, Elizabeth Kekaanani Laani, in 1864. Mr. Pratt has occupied many high positions of trust having been, but a short time before his death, Hawaiian Consul General at San Francisco.

The immediate cause of Mr. Pratt's death was dropsy. The funeral will take place on next Sunday afternoon from St. Andrew's Cathedral at 3 o'clock; relatives, friends and acquaintances are invited to be present at the services.

The Hawaiian Mania in Congress.

The meeting of Congress, with the subsidence of the calamity howl, has been accompanied by a slight exacerbation of symptoms, in some cases, of the Hawaiian rabies. A number of the victims are just now laboring under great excitement, their terror taking the special form of a dread that some one is carrying on war in Hawaii contrary to the forms made and provided.

Dear old Senator Hear is one of the latest victims of this sad disorder, and he indulged lately in what Senator Mills described as "shelling the woods" in the hope of hitting some lurking enemy of the Constitution. In general the Senators do not seem to have the disease quite so acutely as some of the editors, but there is no telling what may happen under the strain of party necessity.

The resolution asking the President for information, which was adopted without dissent in the Senate, is harmless enough, but in view of the fact that the President has promised all this information at an early date, it might as well have been deferred. In the House also Mr. Hitt has tried his hand at a resolution in which he recites:

That it is the sense of this House that intervention by the government of the United States, its representative or armed forces in the affairs of a friendly recognized government, to disturb or overthrow it and substitute a monarchy thereof, is contrary to the policy and traditions of the Republic and the spirit of the Constitution.

This is a declaration to which, with a single amendment, we should heartily agree. Intervention by the United States to disturb or overthrow a friendly recognized government and to substitute any other government thereof, whether a monarchy, an oligarchy or what not, is contrary to our policy and traditions, and ought to be condemned. This is precisely the position taken by the President.

By the simple omission of the reference to a monarchy, Mr. Hitt's resolution will cover the whole subject broadly. The government which the United States Minister substituted for the friendly recognized government of Hawaii is not accurately described by this term; it is that much more obnoxious thing, an irresponsible oligarchy. But it was the interference itself, without reference to the exact form of the substitute, that violated our policy and tradition, so that the clause is superfluous. With this amendment the resolution will correctly state the American policy, as the President has already declared it.—Philadelphia Times.

The Policy of Infamy.

Latest returns from Hawaii put the late Republican administration in a bad light. If the New York Sun will now transfer its scare-head "The Policy of Infamy" to a fair and full account of what President Harrison did in Hawaii, it will thus be able to make goods its boast, "If you see it in the Sun it's so." Special Commissioner Blount's report shows that the present government of Hawaii is government upheld by a bayonets.

The question of the advisability of a monarchical government is not up for consideration so far as Hawaii is concerned. The United States government, however, has been put in a shameful attitude by the act of Harrison's administration. Mr. Blount's report demonstrates plainly that the power of the United States was used to force the Queen from her throne. Our government stands in the attitude of the strong bully over a weak nation.

Our armed forces were used to coerce the late monarch in Hawaii and were used to further the objects of a ring there. Thus far, therefore, the "policy of infamy" has been the policy of the Republican administration under Benjamin Harrison.

Of Little Interest.

I have not been able to find a man outside of the civil service who is able to get up even a moderate amount of interest, much less indignation, over the Hawaiian controversy. The people regard the affair as a small amount of wool for a very large cry. That Harrison's administration muddled with precipitate jingoism the whole matter and put the country in a false attitude, is the apparent conclusion of Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet. That Mr. Gresham's declaration, that whatever wrong was committed by the United States ought to be rectified by the United States, is in any way the effort of recreant Americanism to establish imperialism by force in Hawaii, nobody with his senses believes. That the sentiment of this country is in favor of annexation, I am unable to see. Men of average good sense, who do not believe that everything President Cleveland does must be the best thing, are keenly alive to the other fact that whatever he does is made the pretext for assault by those who opposed him bitterly before his election and seized upon every opportunity to misrepresent him afterwards. Take the Hawaii question out of partisanship and it will settle itself like any other teapot when the fire is removed.—Nym Crinkle in N. Y. World.
